About the Global Leadership Forum

- Professor Adel Safty, the founder of UNESCO Leadership Chair, founded the Global Leadership Forum to promote a multidisciplinary and multicultural

- conception of leadership, when he was Head of UN Mission in Amman, and Director of the UNU Leadership Academy in the 1990s.
- The Global Leadership Forum emphasises an inclusive approach to leadership in the public policy arena, the private sector, inter-governmental and non-governmental organisations, in educational institutions, and in citizens' associations. It seeks to promote Value Leadership by emphasising the interconnectedness of peace, democracy and development, on the one hand, and the relationship between human development and leadership in whatever field, on the other hand.
 - The GLF has been sponsored by the UN, the World Bank, the UNESCO, several governments, private sector corporations, and educational institutions including the university of Bahcesehir, Istanbul Commerce University, the Centre for Creative Leadership, Greensboro, North Carolina, USA, the International Partnership for Service-Learning and Leadership, New York, and the Dom Cabral fundacio in Brazil.
 - Over the years the GLF has brought together distinguished political leaders, senior representatives of inter-governmental organisations such as the UN and the World Bank, distinguished scholars of public policy and of management, corporate and business leaders, students, and representatives of various governments from all over the world, and members of civil society organisations.
